The great features and functionality you want!

Nexis provides world-class features that maximise your ability to create value and increase efficiency.

Get where you want to go with our Power Search

With Power Search, you have the option of performing a Boolean (terms and connectors) or Natural Language search, and you can view document segments for the sources you are searching and add them to your search.

Save your work with saved searches and documents

Your searches are automatically saved for a week for easy retrieval.

Stay informed with alerts

Save searches for future use or save as an alert that updates on a schedule you choose: daily, several times a day, weekly or monthly.

Deliver information the way you want it

You can deliver your results in several ways: print, email, or download to a file.

Get smart with SmartIndexing Technology™ Terms

Users can refine their search using LexisNexis SmartIndexing Technology terms in all news and company documents. Users simply click on indexing terms in a full-text document to add them to the original search and to change the search, or they can just use the terms to narrow the current results set. If you are searching for a company, Nexis can help you find the ultimate parent company and show the entire corporate structure, including all company subsidiaries.

Pick your sources with source selection

Use the Sources tab to browse the list of sources you subscribe to. If you only know part of a source name, use the Find Sources tab to find one or more specific sources. Click on the Add link to easily add sources to your search and name them for easy tracking.

“ You can find information on Nexis that you would struggle to find if just using Google. This is the main reason we bought the service.

Nexis also offers a premier collection of publications from around the world. ”

Claire Munoz-Parry, London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine

Get there fast by browsing in the document

The search terms are highlighted live links in the document for easy browsing. In the Full Text document view, jump from search term to search term quickly using our new “hit to hit” navigation.

Stay organized with result groups

You can group your results set by publication type, or see which individual publications and sources are in your results set. Because it is so easy to see what sources comprise your results set, you can always be sure to look at the ones of most interest to you. For news and company documents, you can group your results by company, industry, subject, geography, or language.

Nexis provides world-class features that maximise your ability to create value and increase efficiency.

You get a fast, reliable way to:

- Keep up-to-date with activities of current donors and individuals with donor potential including access to detailed biographical profiles
- Identify and locate key donor prospects, then determine if they are good candidates for your fund-raising efforts
- Uncover philanthropically oriented companies using news and financial reports
- Develop and maximize the effects of prospecting databases
